About the Book

The dreamlike, eerily atmospheric prose poems in this collection interrogate margins and melt points of migrancy. Intensely personal, funny, enchanting, and fantastical, it is at once an ambitious autobiography and a dream book, a diary and a field guide. Here, the hybridity of the form serves both as a device of subversion and as an ocular pointing at space and stars, forests and rivers, rupture and belonging.

About the Author

Sabyasachi (Sachi) Nag is the author of Hands Like Trees (fiction; Ronsdale Press, 2023) and three previous collections of poetry, including Uncharted (Mansfield Press, 2021). His work has been published in numerous journals worldwide. He holds an MFA in fiction from the University of British Columbia and is an alumnus of the Iowa Writers' Workshop, Simon Fraser University, and Humber School for Writers. He is the managing editor at Artisanal Writer, an online journal that explores books, lit craft, and theory. When he's not reading or teaching creative writing, he enjoys going paddling with his wife and son in the Great Lakes near Toronto.
